

Newsround Science Facts

Hello! Here is this week's letter!

Bee News

A bee conservationist found a hidden hive inside a tree! The hive was full of a rare species of honey bees as well! 🐝 🍯

Storm Arwen

A big storm has hit the UK overnight, bringing strong winds. It's called Storm Arwen, and because of its strong winds, around 80,000 homes in Scotland were left without power. In Wales, I'm A Celebrity was forced to cancel the live part of Friday's show as the winds were too dangerous to film in. The storm is also bringing some very cold weather, which could mean snow for parts of the UK over the couple of days.

A sea-turtle has found a new home in Scotland!

April the sea turtle has not had the easiest couple of years...

In 2019, she was discovered in the ocean tangled up in netting with a plastic bag around her neck. April was taken to the Turtle Rehabilitation Centre in the Maldives for treatment, where vets soon realised she was missing her front right flipper and a lung infection. Sadly this meant that April would not be able to return to the wild. But thanks to the efforts of conservationists, she has found a new home 5,000 miles away from the Maldives - in Scotland! Slightly different climate, but nothing a good heated tank can't solve! April's new home is at Sea Life Loch Lomond, where she joins five other rehabilitated turtles.